

U.S. Department of Education's 22nd Annual National Meeting on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse and Violence Prevention in Higher Education

ENSURING THE SAFETY AND
WELL-BEING OF OUR STUDENTS:

Widening the Lens of Prevention

NOVEMBER 16-19, 2008 • CROWNE PLAZA ST. PAUL-RIVERFRONT • ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA

Testimonials

The Department of Education's National Meeting on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse and Violence Prevention in Higher Education has continuously provided valuable information and up to date research-based knowledge to participants. If you are still not sure why you should attend, here are some comments by past attendees about why they attend the National Meeting.

“The National Meeting is the premier professional development opportunity for those of use in AODV prevention in higher ed. I can't wait to attend each year to get ideas on how to address the latest trends in the field and to learn about the latest research. No other conference offers so much for such a reasonable cost.”
– Wendy Seegers, University of Wisconsin Colleges

“As a first-time attendee and AODV novice, The National Meeting provided me with an invaluable foundation for understanding the field. Now, as a seasoned professional, it is a source for continued learning and inspiration for this important work we all do. Every year I leave the conference with both a renewed sense of commitment and nuggets of new information that I can't wait to share with my colleagues back home.”
– Heather Dunn Carlton, University of the Pacific

“I've attended the National Meeting since 2000. This meeting has consistently provided me with cutting edge information that I then take back to my campus and incorporate into my work. For me, the National Meeting is a terrific way to find out what is happening on other campuses around the country, to learn what is working and why, and to meet experts in the field who can help me move my campus forward.” – Carla Lapelle, Marshall University

“I have been attending the National Meeting since 2002. Since that first time I have learned so much, not only from the workshops, poster session, and keynote speakers, but from the time I have spent with my colleagues who are so truly creative and amazing people. I get help with tweaking the evidenced based programs I am learning about so they may fit my campus and I get fantastic out of the box innovative creative ideas for programs.” – John Watson, Drexel University

“The national meeting is a wonderful place to meet people who do similar work in a similar work setting. They can provide support and assistance like no other group!” – Karen Moses, Arizona State University

ST. PAUL CATHEDRAL FROM RIVERFRONT © 2008 Andrew J. Maghielse

For more information, visit the National Meeting Web site: www.higheredcenter.org/natl/2008